

Perast

Perast, Montenegro

42.4862681, 18.6988592

Perast, a beautiful small town in the Bay of Kotor, named by the Illyrian tribe Pirusta and with his turbulent history, will leave an incredible impression on you. Besides the Museum and the Churches, the main attraction is the island Lady of Skrpjela. Perast is a small town that has one street near the sea, although small it has 16 churches and the spirit of Venice. One of the islands that makes this place even more colorful and gives it a charm is Our Lady of the Rocks. The story goes that two fishermen brothers, returning from fishing, saw light on a small reef. As they approached, they saw the icon of the Mother Mary and took it to the church. The icon disappeared the same night, and the next day it was found again, intact, on the ridge from where it was taken. Afterwards the people of Perast decided to build a church there. Every time a boat would sail out of Perast, every sailor would throw a rock at the reef to ask the lady for a safe trip. This is how the island was created. Byzantine Empire, Venetian, Hungarian, French, Austrian invaders throughout history have tried to conquer this place and each of them has left a significant mark on this small place.

Overview

Country: Montenegro

