Halkida and the surrounding areas are popular for their ouzo and delicious accompanying dishes, making them an ideal destination for Athenians and visitors from nearby areas. There is a large number of ouzo restaurants for all interests and preferences. This category of restaurants is not seasonal, as you can visit them all year round. Most ouzeri are located in Chalkida (on the historic streets of the city, on the seaside front and around the old bridge overlooking the Evian Gulf), on the beach of Agios Minas, Lampsakos and Artaki. The accompanying dishes on the table are usually fresh fish and seafood, combined with other flavors and ingredients, creating delicious dishes. One can visit them with his company, his family and even by himself. There are many options to choose from, such as a traditional ouzeri or one with a more modern taste and décor.
