Velebit has some of the finest exhibits of karst on the entire massif. Among them, Tulove Grede is one of most beautiful examples and recognizable peaks of Velebit. Tulove Grede is an outcropping of white limestone cliffs which vary in size and shape. Some are pillars and towers and many look like they are glued together. The top part of Tulove Grede looks like a crown with many towers rising from the body of a massive peak. Tulove Grede is a playground for climbers and not much is accessible to ordinary people, however some towers are accessible to hikers as they require some climbing of lower difficulty.
