Konjic

43.6534733, 17.9624801

Crni Vir Waterfall is situated in the small village of Dzajici, next to Konjic town. It's the southern part of the country, known as Herzegovina. That means a lot of sunny days and warmer temperatures than in the center part of the country. To the village goes a road that follows the gorgeous mountain river Neretva upstream through the town. When you reach the second rafting center - Dzajica Buk park a car and then take a short walk (approx. 15 minutes) to the fall. In Spring, before a rafting season starts on the Neretva river, this is a quiet place where you can relax from daily stress and connect with nature and your loved ones. During the summer months, you won't have this place for yourself, but it will still take your breath away.
